End-2-End Migration Service from Haylix

Whether you have already contemplated taking advantage of public cloud and are now evaluating next steps, looking to facilitate new project requirements or need to refresh an existing piece of your infrastructure, modern public clouds offer the necessary options with secure and integrated capabilities.

The task of moving from and existing public cloud or on-prem to either AWS or Azure Cloud is where Haylix excels. In the transformation of your legacy environment to one that's agile, secure and aligned to your everchanging business needs, Haylix prepares you for the journey of optimising your services ensuring fit-for-purpose builds, and finally a low-risk, low-impact automated migration to your new cloud-based service.

"Haylix prepares you for the journey of optimising your services."

AWS EFFICIENCY BENEFITS*

76 availability zones globally

24 regions

*Source AWS

69% reduction in unplanned downtime

31% average infrastructure cost savings than on-prem

62% more efficient IT infrastructure management than on-prem

PREPARE. The discovery stage includes the identification and construction of a list of services and resources including a detailed cloud readiness assessment.
Deploying application and database migration agents facilitates service element connectivity with your new cloud and includes a robust data replication mechanism that will populate your new service in the background while allowing you to securely continue with business as usual.

OPTIMISE. To ensure your new cloud service is efficient and cost effective, we analyze and optimise your services to ensure only right-sized and necessary services are deployed in the most secure manner.

You don't want to bring your old baggage along with you. Your new cloud environment will be architected to Industry best practices to ensure a secure and reliable run-time environment.

MIGRATE. Haylix automates & monitors the progress of your secure data synchronisation from within our Australian based control center.

In most cases the transition to your new service can be completed with little to no disruption to your service.
In case we come across a speed bump along the way, our migration service ensures accelerated remediation and a fully verified migration of your new service.
